Game Boy inventor killed in car crash umper rooto, the inventor of the Game & Watch, the Game Boy, has been killed in a car crash. Yokol left Nintendo after the failure of the Virtual Boy, set up his own company, and was producing a pocket LCD (rasks) many.

Yokoi's death follo minor accident in whic collided with the car in While inspecting the d couple of hours later.

While Yoko: left Nintendo under something of a doud last year, it's it treatest invention, the Game Boy, that is currently keeping Nintendo in profit in Japan. And even the Virtual Boy was jechnically excellent, as Wil, one of its biggest fans, will confirm.