WHAT'S NEW
WHAT'S HOT

VOLUME III • ISSUE ONE • 1996

If you had to guess how the 4 categories of the $3.8 billion video game market would end up for 1995...what would be your guess? Look at the numbers shown below...surprise, surprise—BUT Nintendo wasn't surprised!

"They" said the 16-bit market was dead... when, in REALITY, it came in at 63.2%!

"They" said to forget the handheld market... when, in REALITY, it came in only 3% behind New Technology!!!

"They" said that 32-bit would rule... when, in REALITY, all of the New Technology put together just wasn't up to the hype.

Then look at "Other"...really, the NES (which everyone said was dead and buried).

In REALITY, the NES sold more than 300 and Jaguar combined... or more than the individual sales of 32X, 3DO OR Jaguar!

Nintendo's innovative titles such as Donkey Kong Country and Killer Instinct keep consumer demand high for 16-bit games and systems. Games ARE Important! We have the same consumers with the same request:

Ken Griffey Is Back

And ACM Graphics Make Him 3D!

As announced last summer, Ken Griffey, Jr., one of America's favorite baseball players, has signed an exclusive multi-year agreement to act as a Corporate spokesperson and game development advisor for Nintendo.

"... If we can get an infielder to dive a couple of runs into the stands to try to make a catch, and then pop out, the other players should get pumped up too, just like we do!"

N NINTENDO 64

"Industry Analysts expect Nintendo 64 to be a mega hit and create record profits next year with its reasonable price, strong computing power, special effects capabilities, and quality software."

"Jaw dropping" software

(expected to be out for the Nintendo 64):

Super Mario 64	Blastozer
PilotWings 64	Star Wars: Shadows of the Empire
Super Mario Kart	GoldenEye 007
Star Fox 64	Body Harvest
Kirby Bowl 64	Creator
Wave Race 64	The Legend of Zelda
Buggle-Boogie	FIFA Soccer

From the Shoshinkai, Japan trade show— Expectations were extremely high, but the games actually exceeded those expectations. Super Mario 64 will define the next generation of games; ...the most impressive moves came from the use of the...360 analog control on the Show!"

POWER LINE (206-885-7529)

The Power Line team developed a new application, the "Power Line News," that provides the latest information about our products in an exciting format that's fun to listen to and easy for our consumers to use. This new application proved to be extremely useful in providing consumers with information about the recent Shoshinkai trade show in Japan. In fact, 3,277 callers listened to the "Power Line News" in the 3 days following the show.

TRIVIA: Power Line has already received 2.2 million calls!
